

We've made the first steps forward — now it's time to step back

Taking stock to shape the future

Thank you to everyone who joined the pilot sessions or lent their support in other ways.

Sharing your insights, connections and stories has been invaluable in shaping the experience and the way forward.

Just over a year ago, I began developing Lumin to spark multi-generational conversations and amplify women's voices — exchanging connections, knowledge, and experiences.

That idea led to this six-month pilot phase, sparking conversations and testing ideas around how we can better share knowledge and collaborate.

It's been inspiring to hear your stories, share perspectives, and see new connections form. It's also highlighted where support has been most valuable and where there's potential to deepen impact.

To focus on how Lumin evolves, I've decided that stepping back is the best way forward. Rather than keeping things ticking over with the 'keep in touch' sessions and weekly updates, I'll be pausing these for now.

This will create space to reflect, reshape, and consider how Lumin might be reborn with greater purpose and clarity — avoiding the stretch of running to stand still.

In the meantime, the LinkedIn closed group and the newsroom will remain open for you to continue connecting and sharing insights.

Thank you for being part of this first chapter; for your time, stories, and new friendships. If you have reflections, I'd love to hear them. Please do stay in touch.
